

Boo-ga-loo

I'm going to tell a story,
So listen close my friends.
'Cause we can learn a lesson,
Even though it's just pretend.
It's about a little donkey,
Whose name was Boo-ga-loo,
And he listened to the devil,
Just like some people do.
It happened many years ago,
When Jesus walked with men,
And just before the Passover,
Is when it first began.
As Jesus was preparing
For that special day,
He sent disciples on ahead,
To prepare a place to stay.
The disciples prepared a room,
And brought back a donkey too.
And that little donkey,
That was Boo-ga-loo.
Jesus rode upon his back
Down the city street.
The crowd shouted "Hosanna"
And threw branches at his feet.

Boo-ga-loo was so happy
To do service for the king.
That's where the devil came in,
Trying to mess up everything.
He said "Oh, Boo-ga-loo,
You must really be a star.
All these people cheering
Because of who you are."
Boo-ga-loo looked from side to side.
He saw the cheering throng.
He listened to the devil.
That's where he went wrong.
He thought that all the praise was his.
He raised his head in pride.
Bust when his flesh was lifted up,
Spiritually he died.
Now as you're serving Jesus,
Remember Boo-ga-loo,
And never let the devil make
A donkey out of you!
