

Samson

Now there was Samson.

A man of might.

Strong in the Lord.

Doing alright.

His parents had advice,

And it was sound.

Find a nice girl,

Then settle down.

He didn't listen to

Dad's advice.

Ran with Delilah,

And she wasn't nice.

She set him up

For the Philistines.

Tied him with ropes,

And cords of green.

Said, "Samson, honey,

Be a dear.

Where is your strength?"

He said his hair.

He thought he could trust her,

But instead,

She called for a man,

To shave his head.

He lost his strength,
And lost his eyes.
Was thrown in jail.
Brought down to size.
The Philistines gathered
In one place.
Go get Samson.
We'll laugh
In his face.
Samson leaned
On the pillar to pray.
Lord, give me strength,
Just for one more day.
The pillars fell,
And the place
Hit the ground.
Ole Brother Sam,
Really brought the house down!
